Product Description

High Audio Quality Type-C Wired Earphones Good Compatibility

The features of Type-C wired headphones mainly include the following points:

1. Compatibility: Type-C wired headphones are designed for devices with Type-C interfaces, which are commonly used in newer electronic products such as smartphones, tablets, etc. They are fully compatible with devices that support USB Type-C interfaces, providing high-speed data transfer and charging functions .
2. Design features: Unlike traditional round in-ear headphones, Type-C wired headphones are designed according to the geometry of the ear to provide greater comfort and fit more people. This design takes ergonomics into account to ensure comfort during long-term use.
3. Audio performance: The speaker design of these headphones can maximize sound output and bring users a high-quality audio experience. High-quality audio output is especially important for music lovers, providing more realistic and delicate sound quality .
